Ken is a creative programmer, diligent in his approach and technique in solving programming challenges. We have utilized Ken's services as a contracted programmer in developing C# .net and PDF reports from SQL database tables. He has been successful in developing solutions for unique challenges for us both in working with a team and independently on his own.

I still remember Ken's initial interview. We had constructed a small skills test to gauge applicant's aptitude in the given technology. We got back a lot of various responses from different candidates, theoretical answers, just plain wrong solutions, etc., and many took a long time coming up with whatever they submitted. Ken knocked it out of the park. He had a working solution within, what seemed like was maybe all of 5 or 10 minutes, which is all the more time we thought it would take. Ken was a great resource on our team, contributed to the success of our customers, and I am pleased to recommend him.

When Ken was here, I was his manager in the Applications department of our Information Technology group. Ken was let go in a re-organization of our company after we were acquired by a larger company. I was in charge of custom application development and Ken worked on various projects using several different developer tools and languages.

very technology savvy. I challenge an employer to look past his physical issues and challenge him on his technical skills.

Ken Roach has been both a consultant for our company as well as a tenant in our building. On both fronts he has been responsive, professional and collaborative. I give him the highest recommendation.

As his ex instructor, I was impressed with Ken's determination and involvement in class. I am sure he will be a good worker and contributor to a company in his field.
